AssetMark Receives Workplace Health Achievement Recognition from the American Heart Association

CONCORD, CA – September 04, 2018 – AssetMark, Inc., a leading provider of innovative investment and consulting solutions, today announced that the firm received Silver level recognition in the 2018 American Heart Association Workplace Health Achievement Index for its commitment to fostering a workplace culture of health. Recipients are selected based on a scientific, evidence-based assessment of company health programs and employee heart health.

The American Heart Association developed the Workplace Health Achievement Index in conjunction with its CEO Roundtable, a leadership collaborative of more than 40 CEOs nationwide who are committed to applying evidence-based approaches to improve employees' overall health. The Index uses science-based best practices to evaluate the overall quality, comprehensiveness, and effectiveness of workplace health programs. Moreover, the Index is capable of calculating an average heart health score for employees of companies that submit aggregate health data.

"AssetMark's overarching goal is to give advisors the resources they need to make a difference in the lives of investors. Enhancing our employees' lives through health-centric programming is an extension of that mission, and we're honored to receive recognition from the American Heart Association for this work," said Gary Zyla, Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer at AssetMark.

More than 1,000 companies completed the Index assessment this year. Participating firms also received benchmarking reports that enable them to identify potential areas of improvement moving forward. According to the Nielsen 2016 Employee Health Survey, comprehensive strategies for well-being are associated with positive impacts on employees' health.
