Brian excels at translating legal complexities into plain language and helping clients make informed decisions regarding their business and estate plans. Before joining the legal profession, Brian gained a strong appreciation for practical solutions while working in the farming and manufacturing industries. His clients benefit from his bottom-line approach to resolving issues.

At the Rose Law Firm, Brian collaborates with a variety of experienced attorneys with diverse specialties. He continues to broaden his legal knowledge through working closely with the Rose Law Firm team and its extended network of Contract Attorneys.

At home, Brian is the proud father of two energetic boys and the husband of a remarkable high school chemistry teacher. When not herding children, Brian can be found herding chickens in his backyard. He also enjoys exploring the beautiful Pacific Northwest by foot and on two wheels.
