Taking a school community leadership role in cyber safety

Engaging and supporting your school community

It is true that many instances of online harm, such as the sending of explicit images, happen outside of school hours, so the solution requires a whole-of-school community approach to cyber safety. Linewize provides you with cyber safety tools and materials, plus advice from world-renowned cyber experts, to educate, support and engage your school community - parents, students and teachers alike - so you can position your school as a leader and your parents as partners in providing a cyber-safe community.

Designed specifically to drive parental engagement, Linewize Community helps ensure parents are involved in their child's online activity, and empowers them to effectively manage cyber safety, including social media use and screen time.

"Linewize Community was a game changer for us because all of a sudden it was focused on the educational side of things rather than filtering and IT. So being able to engage down at the grassroots level was so much more important for us than filtering our Internet."
