Summer Missionary Basics

What is MissionLab?

MissionLab is a non-profit Christian missions organization based at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. We provide weeklong mission trips for groups coming to New Orleans to serve by matching them with ministry sites here in the city, along with providing housing, meals, and worship events on our campus. We plan mission trips solely to New Orleans at this time, because that is where our organization is currently led to serve. During the summer, MissionLab is primarily a youth missions program (although we do have several college, adult, and family groups in attendance as well) where hundreds of students and chaperones come each week to learn missions, do missions, and be missionaries.

What does it mean to be a MissionLab SM?

Each summer we bring in a staff of college-age men and women from all over the country to serve in New Orleans alongside the permanent MissionLab staff. The summer missionary is responsible for partnering with our groups as a helper and disciple-maker and serving alongside them at their assigned ministry sites around the city of New Orleans. As a summer missionary, you will invest in the spiritual lives of the students that come to MissionLab each week and help them understand their call to missions (and sometimes even help lead them into a relationship with Christ). Simply put, you will be in a leadership position serving as a mentor and role model to middle and high school students. You also work with the permanent staff to maintain the day-to-day functions of camp, helping with everything from enforcing lights-out, to running errands, to setting up for worship nights, to assisting with office duties, and much more. The hours are long, the work is tough, but in the end, students' lives are changed and God is glorified!

Summer missionaries receive free summer housing on our campus (SMs are required to live together for the summer for unity-building purposes—men and women separately, of course). They also get free meals Sunday night through Friday lunch each week, as well as a weekly ministry stipend in the amount of $250 per week.

What are the requirements for serving as a SM?

- At least 18 years old, and must have been out of high school for at least one year by the first day of the job
- Must profess a Christian faith as a follower of Jesus, and must have a willingness to share the message of Jesus with others
- Have a genuine love for students
- Have the desire to serve in a missions-oriented setting
- Strong work ethic, integrity, and the ability to work well with a large team of people
- Willingness to serve in a position of leadership for student groups

When do SMs work?

Summer missionaries must arrive between 12 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Sunday, May 23rd, 2021 and will depart no earlier than the morning of Wednesday, August 4th, 2021. We provide a week of training starting on May 23rd. A typical camp week begins on Sunday at 2 p.m. with set-up and prep, and ends Friday around 2 p.m. Summer missionaries are “on duty” for a majority of the week, with some evenings and most Saturdays off. There is a brief “mid-summer break” during early July.
