

Member Spotlight – The Boldt Company

The Boldt Company supported the Greater Green Bay YMCA Y Achievers Program with a generous donation in 2021.

Founded in 1889, The Boldt Company is a nationally ranked construction firm in Northeast Wisconsin. Headquartered in Appleton, the company has expanded beyond Wisconsin with 16 offices and more than 2,000 employees—530 of them located in Appleton, Green Bay, Stevens Point and the surrounding communities.

The reason for Boldt's continued growth? Alison Fiebig, Business Development Director & Marketing Manager at Boldt, contributes it to high standards of safety, people-focused business approach and the collective courage to challenge the ordinary.

"We build structures that build our community," says Fiebig. "A love for construction is the driving force, but people are at the heart of our business. What makes us stand apart from the rest is our hunger to collaborate and innovate with others in the community as this area continues grow."

Fiebig believes the most rewarding part of working for the company is connecting people to Boldt's mission of finding a better way to build. The industrious company brings a builders' mindset to problem solving, diverse market experience and a commitment to serving the community. Even more than that, long before it was the popular thing to do, Boldt has put a focus on sustainability and eliminating waste.

"Boldt was thinking 'green' before it was cool to think 'green,'" Fiebig affirms. "Sustainability has been a part of our approach to construction before it was the norm; it's a part of our culture. We see the big picture and can help our clients plan for every aspect of sustainable building to the degree they want to implement."

Boldt looks to drive value throughout every stage of construction, such as utilizing its Integrated Lean Project Delivery (ILPD) practice, a Boldt-exclusive process that focuses on eliminating redundancy and waste while pushing up-front collaboration and teamwork. With ILPD, Boldt is able to drive out inefficiencies while accommodating budgets and deadlines without sacrificing quality.

In all aspects of building, Boldt focuses on the safety and well-being of its employees, as well as its clients' employees. Recently, the construction company was recognized with the Platinum Safety Award from ConstructSecure for registering a safety score greater than 95% in the Safety Assessment Program. Its dedication to ensuring everyone goes home safe at the end of the day could also be seen in its response to COVID-19, like working on job sites while staying socially distanced. Fiebig explains that project teams came together to ensure proper health and safety protocols were maintained.

Looking towards 2022, Boldt has its sights set on more growth. The company plans to continue being a local expert for various industries to problem solve, companies to grow business and municipalities to grow its main street districts and beyond. Fiebig further shares how the team is excited to not only sit at those tables and be a part of the conversations, but also be a resource to the community and answer questions to contribute to the progress taking place.
