Notice of Covered Activities

Please provide a general description of the digital music provider's service(s), or expected service(s), and the manner in which it uses, or seeks to use, phonorecords of nondramatic musical works.

IK Multimedia offers a range of affordable music production and creation software (e.g., processing software, mobile hardware, and virtual instruments). Its virtual guitar effects software, currently branded as the AmpliTube 5 guitar effects plug-in, allows users to create guitar tones using digital recreations of guitar pedals and amplifiers. The AmpliTube settings used to create a particular set of guitar tones can be saved in a file called a "preset." Within each preset, users can upload a short (approximately 20-30 second) audio recording as a preview of that guitar tone. IK Multimedia plans to make available, on a free-to-the-user basis, a website (soon to be available at tone.net) that will allow AmpliTube users to share their preset guitar tones by means of on-demand streaming of the audio clips from the preset files. There will be limited local device caching for technological purposes to support streaming, but no permanent downloads or offline playback.
