

SERVICE OVERVIEW

Reporting & Analytics

Real-Time Insights

Anyone who works firsthand in shipping will tell you: the key to successfully managing your transportation spend is data. Only with real-time insights and package-level details can you hope to root out inefficiencies and identify opportunities for savings. Reveel's Reporting & Analytics tools help you do just that.

Secure Online Tools

Our secure online tools are vital to successfully managing transportation spend. They're also a key indicator on where you can cut costs, make modifications, and identify new opportunities to increase savings.

Supply Chain Visibility

Via our intuitive and secure online dashboard, you'll be able to produce reports in real-time with all of your data. You can drill down to package level details to help increase efficiencies within your shipping department. Our online tools increase visibility within your supply chain and transportation spend, as well as provide actionable insight into accessorial surcharges so you can reduce waste.

Reveel's Reporting & Analytics give you real-time insights that allow you to manage trends, maximize efficiencies, and identify valuable opportunities for savings.

"I can easily get into the dashboard any time and pull any report I need without relying on their customer service. If an issue does arise, I always get a quick response from Reveel. They're very responsive."
