

LDI Senior Fellows Program Resources

The LDI Senior Fellows Program is open to Assistant, Associate, and Full Professors with a current faculty position at the University of Pennsylvania or the Children’s Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) who conduct health services research. LDI Senior Fellows form a cross-disciplinary network of more than 300 researchers whose work aims to improve the health of patients and the public through studies on the organization, financing, management, and delivery of health care.

Benefits of the Senior Fellows Program:

Penn LDI offers funding opportunities for Senior Fellows on a competitive basis.
LDI Contact: Traci Chupik

Amplify@LDI is a specialized program that aims to train LDI Senior Fellows to elevate their research as content and policy experts.
LDI Contact: Tali Ruskin

The Health Services Research Data Center (HSRDC) houses restricted-use datasets and computing tools for quantitative research. Senior Fellows gain access to an array of data resources.
LDI Contact: Jibby Kurichi

The Health Economics Data Analyst Pool (HEDAP) provides Senior Fellows access to high-quality, skilled data analysts working on health services research projects.
LDI Contact: Jibby Kurichi

A team of translation and dissemination experts help Senior Fellows develop their voice, promote their expertise, and connect their research to policy through news articles, briefs, and blog posts.
LDI Contact: Nadiyah Browning

Research and policy seminars provide opportunities to interact with national and international policymakers and researchers, often in small group settings. Please refer to the LDI Calendar for the latest information and to register.

Professional development workshops cover essential aspects of academic success, such as grant writing, research methods, and dissemination skills. Please refer to the LDI Calendar for the latest information.
LDI Contact: Tali Ruskin

Opportunity to serve as a mentor or presenter in the SUMR program, aimed at preparing first-generation college and underrepresented minority students in exploring health services research.
LDI Contact: Joanne Levy

Working groups convene researchers across disciplines with common interests to build collaborations and catalyze new activities.
LDI Contact: Tali Ruskin

Additional services provided by LDI include free poster printing and professional portraits.
LDI Contact: Hoag Levins